PREAMBLE

The Bylaws for Academic Governance of the College of Human Medicine define the organization and functioning of the college and the procedures of the faculty and students in fulfilling their roles in policy formulation. The development of policy is a complex and collaborative process deriving from administrative, faculty, and student sources interacting at all stages. The role of administration in this process is defined by higher administrative echelons and by the University Bylaws for Academic Governance. Accordingly, this document is restricted to a description of the processes and procedures governing faculty and student participation in the development of policy and in the functioning of the College of Human Medicine.

1.1.5.1.1. The voting faculty in the election of university-level councils and committees shall be all regular faculty, health professions faculty, and research faculty. Voting faculty also includes full-time fixed-term faculty who have served at least three consecutive years and are engaged in the academic activities of the university on a regular basis. These are defined in 1.1.1.

2.5. Minutes

2.5.1. Faculty meeting minutes, including an attendance roster of the internal voting faculty, will be prepared and published on the college's website by the Dean's Office no later than 10 working days before the next faculty meeting. Such minutes will be subject to the approval of the faculty at the next scheduled meeting of the faculty.

 - 3.1.1.1. In addition to the chairperson of the College Advisory Council who also serves as a member of the Faculty Senate, the College Advisory Council will ensure that at least one additional faculty person selected from the college's representatives to the Faculty Senate shall serve as an ex officio, non-voting member.
 - 3.1.1.2. The faculty members representing the college on each university standing committee will serve as ex officio, non-voting members of the College Advisory Council and provide a quarterly, or as needed, report of said committee's activities at each College Advisory Council regularly scheduled meeting.
 - 3.1.1.3. Other ex officio non-voting members may be added as needed by the College Advisory Council.

3.1.2. Nominations and Election of Members

3.1.2.1. Chairpersons and directors of units shall have the responsibility of initiating and supervising, within their respective units, elections in early spring semester with members taking office on August 15. The election procedure to be followed shall be

Inclusion on the agenda will be at the discretion of the Steering Committee. With respect to such agenda suggestions, any voting member of the faculty may request a hearing with the Steering Committee in order to be heard on his/her proposal, complaint, or inquiry.
- 3.1.3.3. Agenda items forwarded by the dean as appropriate for the College Advisory Council shall be submitted in the manner described above. That such items are submitted by the dean shall be considered sufficient for their inclusion on the agenda of the College Advisory Council.

- 3.1.3.5. The College Advisory Council minutes will be made available to all members of the college with internal voting privileges.

3.1.4. Functions

3.1.4.1. The primary purpose of the College Advisory Council is to serve as a channel of communication between the college faculty and the dean, and to serve as a means of participation by faculty and students in the policy making of the college. It may meet

- privately with the dean; it may be assembled jointly with chairs and directors, as the interests of the college require.
- 3.1.4.2. The College Advisory Council shall represent the faculty of the College of Human Medicine with respect to any and all matters that bear upon the college teaching, research, and service programs. It shall receive and consider, in the manner described in these bylaws, proposals, complaints, and inquiries from the faculty and students and render advice to the dean on such matters. In like manner, the council shall be responsive to the dean and will take under consideration and advise the dean on those issues that s/he submits to the Council.
- 3.1.4.3. The College Advisory Council shall receive all official proposals of the standing committees of the college for presentation to the faculty. The College Advisory Council may make recommendations to the college faculty on the official proposal, or it may refer the proposal back to the standing committee one time for clarification and/or reconsideration before presenting the proposal to the faculty.
- 3.1.4.4. The College Advisory Council shall make a summary report of all its activities subsequent to the previous meeting at each college faculty meeting.
- 3.1.4.5. The College Advisory Council shall consider the written request by any faculty member or college standing committee for a faculty meeting, and then either honor or deny the request. Said decision will be made in consultation with the dean.
- 3.1.4.6. The College Advisory Council shall have shared responsibility with the dean in preparing the agenda for the college faculty meetings.
- 3.1.4.7. The College Advisory Council shall have shared responsibility with the provost to determine procedures for the review of the dean (as indicated in the university bylaws).
- 3.1.4.8. ARTICLE IV. COLLEGE COMMITTEES

4.1. Standing Committees

4.1.1. General Charge

- 4.1.1.1 The standing committees shall serve as the principal forum for the generation of discussion, and in certain instances, implementation of policy recommendations on affairs of the college which the faculty deem essential to the functional existence of the college.
- 4.1.1.2. In those instances where decisions of the standing committees affect the status of individuals, committee members should recuse themselves from the decision-making process when, by virtue of a relationship with the individual or matter under consideration, there might appear to be a conflict of interest or challenge from another committee member or from the committee as a whole.
- 4.1.1.3. The standing committees of the College of Human Medicine shall comprise the Committees on Admissions; Conflict of Interest; Continuing Medical Education; Curriculum; Dean's Student Advisory Committee; Graduate Studies; Reappointment, Promotion, and Tenure; Research; Student Performance (for the duration of the legacy curriculum); and Student Competence.

4.1.2. Nominations and Election of Members

- 4.1.2.1. College standing committee elections will be held in early spring semester of each academic year. For all standing committees, with the exception of the Admissions Committee, members will assume office on August 16 with terms ending August 15. With the exception of the Admissions Committee, the Curriculum Committee, and the Student Competence Committee, elected committee members will serve two-year terms. In the case of the Admissions Committee, the term of members will begin on May 1 and will end on April 30. The term of office for members of the Admissions Committee, the Curriculum Committee, and the Student Competence Committee will be three years.
- 4.1.2.2. The College Advisory Council will administer the elections. During spring semester, each unit of the college will be invited to nominate one candidate from among its faculty for each college standing committee. A faculty member may be nominated for more than one committee position, but may not serve as a voting member on more than two college standing committees. In cases where the number of eligible members from a unit is less than half the number of college standing committees, this limitation

- does not apply. The College Advisory Council will prepare, distribute, collect and count the ballots and will report the results to the faculty.
- 4.1.2.3. Any faculty member with internal voting privileges in the college may be nominated by his/her basic academic unit for election to any college committee.
- 4.1.2.4. All elected members of college standing committees will be elected by majority vote. In the first round of balloting, candidates receiving the highest number of votes will be declared elected to fill vacant positions provided they have received a majority. A majority for each committee vote will be defined as over half of the number of ballots received for that committee. If all positions are not filled, a run-off election will be conducted.
- 4.1.2.5. With the exception of the Admissions Committee, the Curriculum Committee, and the Student Competence Committee, election procedures will be such that approximately half of the members of each committee will be selected each year. For the Admissions Committee, the Curriculum Committee, and the Student Competence Committee, election procedures will be such that approximately one third of the elected members of the committee will be selected each year. Elected members may not serve on a standing committee for more than six consecutive years.
- 4.1.2.6. When vacancies occur on college standing committees, the mechanism for replacing the committee member will be decided by the chairperson of the committee involved and the College Advisory Council.
- 4.1.2.7. The election procedures prescribed by these bylaws will be used for the election of faculty to university standing committees, unless university bylaws stipulate different procedures.
- 4.1.2.8. The initial meeting of newly elected and appointed voting members of college standing committees shall be called by the outgoing chairperson of each standing committee. The purpose of this meeting shall be to elect the chairperson and other officers of the committee. Elected officers will serve for one year and may be reelected. The chairperson of each standing committee is subject to recall by majority vote of the College Advisory Council.

4.1.3. Minutes and Reports

- 4.1.3.1. Each college standing committee will keep minutes of its meetings. The minutes of each committee, after being approved by that committee, will be forwarded to the members of the College Advisory Council, to the dean, and to the chairperson of each academic unit of the college for information. Copies of the minutes of each committee will be kept on file in the Dean's Office and made available to any member of the faculty on request.
- 4.1.3.2. Each standing committee of the College will report on its activities to the faculty at least once a year.

- 4.1.3.3. Each standing committee will forward its official proposals to the College Advisory Council for consideration and recommendation prior to presentation to the faculty of the College of Human Medicine.
- 4.1.4. Subcommittees. Any college standing committee may form subcommittees to facilitate the work of the parent committee. Such subcommittees will operate in accordance with directions from the parent committee, and each subcommittee will publish minutes of its meetings and submit said minutes to the parent committee. Each subcommittee must include in its membership one member of the parent committee, although such a member need not be chairperson of the subcommittee.
- 4.1.5. Consultants and Assistance. Any standing committee of the college may seek out expertise and elicit the views of any interested individual or group from whatever sources are deemed appropriate. Further, if additional assistance is needed by a standing committee to accomplish its work, the committee may request that the dean, with the advice of the College Advisory Council, name additional members to the committee for a limited term of service and without vote.
- 4.1.6. Appointed Members. The dean may appoint member(s) of the voting faculty or member of the Dean's Office to any college standing committee or subcommittee on a non-voting basis, in addition to the dean's appointments to each of the standing committees. With the exception of the Curriculum Committee, a committee may extend the voting franchise to any appointed member by closed ballot vote.

4.2. Standing Committees Descriptions

4.2.1. Admissions

- 4.2.1.1. The Admissions Committee is for admissions to the medical education program and is composed of two sub-committees: the Admissions Executive Sub-committee and the Admissions Interview Sub-committee. The Admissions Executive Sub-committee shall be composed of eleven (11) faculty members elected at large, four (4) faculty appointed by the dean in consultation with the College Advisory Council, and up to six (6) medical students elected by their peers, who serve with voice but without vote. The Admissions Interview Sub-committee shall be composed of faculty members appointed by the assistant dean for admissions. These appointments will be made from among those faculty members who have volunteered or been nominated for consideration. The administrator responsible to the assistant dean for admissions shall serve as executive secretary to the committee with voice but without vote.
- 4.2.1.2. The Admissions Executive Sub-committee shall perform two functions.
 - 4.2.1.2.1. First, it shall, on an annual basis, review admissions policy and procedures. In the fall of each year, the Admissions Executive Sub-committee shall make a written report of recommendations for policy and procedures for the next year to the College Advisory Council and the dean for consideration and approval. If major changes in either policy or procedures are being proposed, the College Advisory Council shall bring the proposed changes to the faculty for their consideration and vote.

- 4.2.1.2.2. The second function of the faculty members of the Admissions Executive Sub-committee is to offer admission to the College of Human Medicine to specific individuals. The Admissions Committee has final authority for selecting students for medical study. It should organize itself to ensure that the operant policies and procedures are implemented, and those evaluations of applicants made by all faculty committee members are consistent with the intent of the approved policy and procedures.
- 4.2.1.3. The Admissions Interview Sub-committee shall perform one function, which is interviewing those applicants to the College of Human Medicine who have been identified by the Admissions Executive Sub-committee. These interviews are implemented using procedures specified by the Admissions Executive Sub-committee. Information derived from the interviews will be forwarded to the Admissions Executive Sub-committee for consideration with other application materials.

4.2.2. Conflict of Interest

- 4.2.2.1. The Conflict of Interest Committee shall be composed of five (5) faculty members. Four (4) of the faculty will be elected at large: two (2) faculty members will be clinical faculty, and two (2) faculty members will be non-clinical faculty. The fifth faculty member will be appointed by the dean to provide balance to the committee.
- 4.2.2.2. The charge to the Conflict of Interest Committee shall be to implement the college-approved Conflict of Interest Policy of the College. The committee will receive reports, approve management plans, and adjudicate concerns. The committee will make its recommendations to the dean. The committee will also serve as a forum for the generation, receipt, and discussion of policy recommendations regarding conflict of interest in the college.

4.2.3. Continuing Medical Education

- 4.2.3.1. The Continuing Medical Education Committee (CME) shall be composed of six (6) elected faculty members and up to three (3) medical students elected by their peers.
- 4.2.3.2. The general charge to the Continuing Medical Education Committee will be to formulate and recommend policy, program, and practices in the area of continuing education of physicians and, where appropriate, other health professions, and to advise the dean on these matters as guided by the rules and guidelines of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME).
- 4.2.3.3. The committee will implement policies related to continuing medical education and will review and approve activities submitted for CME accreditation.
- 4.2.3.4. Because of the extramural scope of this committee, the dean, upon request of the committee, may appoint additional voting members to the committee, and such appointees need not necessarily be members of the college faculty.

4.2.4. Curriculum

- 4.2.4.1. The Curriculum Committee is for the professional medical education program. It will consist of a parent committee and subsidiary committees representing Blocks II and III of the legacy curriculum for the academic years in which students are actively enrolled in these curricular segments.
- 4.2.4.2. There shall be thirteen (13) voting members of the Curriculum Committee, with one (1) additional voting member from each of the Block II and Block III subsidiary committees as long as students are actively enrolled in these curricular segments. The voting members will include: five (5) faculty members elected at large, two (2) medical students elected by their peers (one representing students from curricular components offered in the first two years of the MD curriculum, and one representing the components offered in the last two years of the MD curriculum), one voting faculty member elected from each of the following: the Block II subsidiary committee, the Block III subsidiary committee, the Early Clinical Experience Curricular Development Group, the Intersession Curricular Development Group, the Middle Clinical Experience Curricular Development Group, the Late Clinical Experience Curricular Development Group, and two (2) members of the faculty at large to be appointed by the dean in consultation with the College Advisory Council. The appointed faculty members shall be selected so that among the thirteen (13) voting faculty of the committee, there shall be not less than one (1) from each area of general interest, i.e., behavioral, biological, and clinical science.
- 4.2.4.3. The college representative to the University Committee on Curriculum will be an ex officio, non-voting member unless otherwise serving as an elected or appointed member.
- 4.2.4.4. A representative of the community deans appointed by the dean, and a representative of the evaluation/faculty development program appointed by the dean shall serve as members of the Curriculum Committee with voice but without vote.
- 4.2.4.5. The administrator responsible to the dean for curricular affairs within the college shall serve as executive vice chairperson of the Curriculum Committee with voice but without vote.
- 4.2.4.6. The committee shall elect from its voting membership a chairperson and a secretary.
