Leadership in Medicine for the Underserved

Clinical students in the College of Human Medicine Leadership in Medicine for the Underserved program care for underserved/vulnerable populations in international settings and in urban and rural areas of Michigan. Students examine and understand how the determinants of health and the health care system interact, how health status is impacted by poverty, access to care, neighborhood conditions, safety, income inequality and they learn about the role of advocacy in eliminating health disparities.